Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Municipal Wastes, Vol. 107: Their Character Collection Disposal The collection and disposal of refuse in a sanitary and economical manner is a problem that sooner or later has to be faced by every growing community. In the rural districts the problem is one of the individual; no collection is necessary. There are usually stock or other animals that can dispose of a portion of the edible refuse, combustible waste can be burned and, where considerable area is available, the disposal of the remaining waste offers no serious problem. In the suburban community, with its increased density of population, areas near at hand for the proper disposal of wastes are not always available. The problem is still one of the individual, but as he does not always have the necessary means of transporting the waste to the point of final disposal, the community scavenger springs into existence, who collects and disposes of the wastes in such a manner that returns him the greatest revenue. Collections of this character are not always regular or satisfactory, as naturally those places from which the greatest revenue can be obtained will receive the more efficient service, while the refuse from the producers which has little or no value will be collected irregularly or not at all. Disposal by the community scavenger is not always in accord with the most modern or sanitary methods and the points of disposal may become a source of great annoyance to those living in the neighborhood. As the community passes from the suburban to the urban, with its business district, stores, office buildings, hotels, and markets, the disposal of refuse can not be left to...
